

Digital Leadership in the 21st century

with

Matt Zuchowicz and David Bernier, SBCEO

“As we move further into the digital age, it is imperative that school leaders develop a vision for the role that technology will play and establish a strategic plan for implementation across a broad spectrum.”

— Eric Sheninger

Digital leadership is about knowing, using, and leveraging technological resources and mindsets to bring about meaningful solutions to educational problems. In this series we will explore what this means in a variety of contexts by reading and dialoguing on Digital Leadership: Changing Paradigms for Changing Times (2014) by Eric Sheninger. All participants will receive a copy of this book.

Join us for this important professional learning series as we work to:

- Develop a shared and transformative vision of Educational Technology
- Learn about and leverage technology to communicate and collaborate
- Identify the shifts related to technology found in the Common Core
- Develop a Professional Learning Network of Digital Leaders

Registration is limited to the first 30 District and School administrators, so register early to ensure participation.
